SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The Survey of Program Dynamics (SPD) is a household-based survey designed as a data collection vehicle that can provide the basis for an overall evaluation of how well welfare reforms are achieving the aims of the Administration and the Congress, and meeting the needs of the American people.

The SPD will be a large, longitudinal, nationally-representative study that measures participation in welfare programs, including both programs that are being reformed and those that remain unchanged. The SPD will also measure other important social, economic, demographic, and family changes that will allow analysis of the effectiveness of the welfare reforms.

With the August 22, 1996 signing of the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act of 1996 (Pub L. 104-193), the Census Bureau is required to conduct the SPD, using as the sample the households from the 1992 and 1993 Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP). The information obtained will be used to evaluate the impact of this law on a sample of previous welfare recipients and future recipients of assistance under new state programs funded under this law as well as assess the impact on other low-income families. Issues of particular attention include welfare dependency, the length of welfare spells, the causes of repeat welfare spells, educational enrollment and work training, health care utilization, out-of-wedlock births, and the status of children.

The first interview for the SPD was a bridge survey conducted in the spring of 1997. The bridge survey will provide a link to baseline data for the period prior to the implementation of the welfare reform activities.

II. Method of Data Collection

The SPD is a longitudinal study of welfare-related activities, with the sample respondents originally selected from 1992 and 1993 SIPP panels. Interviews were conducted in a bridge survey in 1997. Data collection will be conducted from 1998 to 2001. Data will be collected using a Computer-Assisted Personal Interview (CAPI) automated questionnaire instrument, from a nationally representative sample of the noninstitutionalized resident population living in the U.S. for all persons, families, and households. Persons who are at least 15 years of age at the time of the interview will be eligible to be in the survey. A separate interview will be obtained for each adolescent member, ages 12 to 17, of our sample households. The adolescent interview will be administered by audio-cassette, while the adolescent records the answers in a paper answer booklet.

A small sample of households will be selected for reinterview. The reinterview process assures that all households were properly contacted, and that the data are valid.
